

And Now— Our Part

CANADA'S Army has splendidly finished its share in saving civilization on the battlefield.

Now let us take up the completion of OUR share of the task.

Canada must still continue for a time to maintain her soldiers; must provide transportation to bring them home; must arrange for their future so that they may again become self-supporting units in a reconstructed world.

Canada must maintain prosperity at home, must continue for a time to finance the purchases of food and supplies for Great Britain and our Allies.

Canada must press forward her great shipbuilding programme in order that she may take her rightful place as a great sea-carrying power.

For all these things hundreds of millions of dollars will be required. To demobilize and re-establish our soldiers in civil life alone will take many millions.

Canada's Victory Loan 1919 will provide the necessary working capital.

Therefore Canada's Victory Loan 1919 must be a great over-subscribed success.

Our part, then, is to buy Bonds and complete our great victory.

We will afford the Canadian investor every opportunity to buy the bonds of Canada's final War Loan.

From now on you should save as much as possible in order to be prepared when the Loan is brought on the market in October.

REV. MITCHELL GIVES ADVICE TO THEOLOGS

Made An Address At the Presbyterian College.

"TAKE HEED TO SELF."

Spirituality and Personal Character Essential To the Preacher.

The Reverend Charles B. Mitchell, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the Dakotas and Minnesota, gave an address at the Presbyterian College yesterday afternoon.

After an opening hymn, Dr. Bieler led the assembly in prayer. The Rev. W. C. Graham, of the Wesleyan College then introduced Bishop Mitchell.

The majority of those present were theological students and his message was to them as such. He congratulated them on their decision to enter the ministry, since it is a difficult step to take in "a commercial age with commercial ideals" when a man is known by his salary. A business man had been known to censure a minister because, at a salary of only two thousand, he gave advice to men drawing two or three times as much. The ability to merely make money is one of the least of the talents given to man. The speaker knew of a "man who was making money hand over fist, just raising red-haired hogs."

"The preacher who lives in this time of remodelling is indeed fortunate," said the Bishop. "It is a day when leaders of men are urgently needed."

He did not minimise the troubles of a minister in a small town. If he takes the train for the city every one sees him go. And the good sisters ask, "Where do you suppose he's going? I wonder why? He had a new hat. I wonder who gave it to him?"

He is thoroughly discussed and possibly cussed. Everything he does, or says, or wears may be criticized. One act may undo all the good he has done.

Man have been known who admitted they could not judge a painting; who pretended to know little of science.

NEW STUDENT BODY AT THE WESLEYAN

Theologs and Non-Theologs Elect Officers For the Coming Year.

The initial meeting of the Students' Society of the Wesleyan College for 1919-20 was held in the Assembly Hall of the College last evening. At this meeting, the Students' Council and its associated committees were elected.

Professor Graham presided at the meeting. After referring to the lack of life which has been characteristic of the University as a whole since 1911, he made an appeal for the residents of the building, both theological and non-theological, to "get together" and make things hum this season.

Voting was then held on the slate submitted last Thursday by the nominating committee. The following officers were elected:—

President:—Mr. Topping.
Vice-President:—E. A. Bell.
Secretary:—E. A. Adey.
Treasurer:—G. E. Moodie.
Executive:—C. F. Davies, R. H. Parks, H. M. Pife, H. Wells.

Besides these officers, two committees were appointed, the Athletic and the Social and Reading Room Committees, composed of three men each.

The new Students' Society, which was organized last spring, is an organization of all the residents of the Wesleyan College for purposes of recreation, social activity, athletic competitions and student government. It replaces the Theological Parliament of the Wesleyan College which was abolished last year. Its purpose is to unite the theological and non-theological student-residents of the building to promote good-feeling among the men of all faculties in residence. The Principal of the College is Honorary President of the Society. The Council is modeled after the Students' Council of McGill University, with slight modifications to suit conditions. Election of officers is held every fall.

The faculty and Council have already "started things". Arrangements are practically completed for an anniversary dinner to be held shortly in honor

DELTA SIGMA PLAYS SCENES FROM BOOKS

Miss Brown Welcomes the First Year.

FOUR SCENES GIVEN.

Audience Pleased With Play-lets By Each of the Four Years.

The first meeting of the Delta Sigma Society for the session 1919-20, took place in the Common Room on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Miss Mawdsley, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, following which the constitution of the society was reviewed.

The president then called upon Miss Brown, who had kindly consented to welcome the year '23 to the Delta Sigma Society.

Miss Brown said she wished not only to welcome, but also to congratulate, the new quota of members upon belonging to such an ancient society as the Delta Sigma. First year students, she said, would appreciate her deep reverence for ancient things.

The Delta Sigma Society, which derives its name from Donald Smith, the founder of the R.V.C., was established in 1884, before the founding of the college itself. At first the society held no debating or public speaking contests, as is the case to-day, but confined itself to essay writing. In concluding Miss Brown expressed the hope that the new members will take advantage of the many opportunities provided by the Delta Sigma, and that they will do their share in making the society as great a success in the future as it had been in the past.

The large audience then awaited, with suppressed excitement, the opening dramatic scene, to be presented by the Senior Year. The extract was taken from George Elliot's "Romola," and the following was the cast of characters:

Tito Malema—Helen Nichol.
Baldassore Callr — Margaret Macnaughton.
Bernardo Rucellai—Jean Nichol.
Towalreoni—Christine Roche.
Gicermozzo Pulli—Hazel Davidson.
Nicola Kieioffi—Mabel Goddard.
Servitors—Flora Mackinnon, Edith Henry.

Stage Manager—Gwen Ewing.
One of the most attractive features of this scene was the splendid stage setting. As the curtain was drawn back it revealed a banquet hall, in which the guests—Florentine Noblemen—were already gathered about the board, glittering with goblets of wine (?) and twinkling candles. Huge bowls of grapes also adorned the

THREE TEAMS WENT STRONG AT WORKOUTS

Much Hard Work and General Improvement.

SQUAD OF FIFTY OUT.

Trick Plays and New Formations Went Smoothly Under "Shag," Monty and Flanagan.

Anyone who was inclined to think that the successes of the football teams of last week-end would tend to make the men relax their training efforts through self-confidence, was very much mistaken. On the contrary, yesterday's practice saw a squad of fifty men out on the field going harder than ever. All three teams were hustled up and down the field from 3.30 to 6.15 without a moment of relaxation or delay and a marked improvement in the finer points of the game resulted.

The tackling dummy was used to advantage by the various squads who were given a thorough tackling practice with the dummy swinging and travelling. Thereafter, the men lined up in their respective squads and spent the next hour at signal-work. The senior team under "Shag" and "Monty" pulled off some excellent trick plays and fakes, using alternate squads of backs. The regulars, "Boo" Anderson, Laffoley, Norm Williamson, and Seath gave a splendid performance and brought several trick-plays to a high degree of nicety. Shag next alternated with these backs, Wallace, Gihooly and Velsor. The latter is coming into prominence and as a drop-kicker, should prove a valuable asset to the team. The senior line was strong as usual and worked well throughout. Notman was off on account of his few mementoes of Ottawa. Dud Ross shaped up well, and did a very creditable afternoon's work. Ambridge's workout was fine and he again showed his ability as line-holder and plunger. Monty has his signals down to perfection and is a great stimulus to the team.

The second squad is rounding into shape nicely and apparently is going to be as strong in their playing as their

IMPORTANT PLANS BEFORE MEETING

Science Undergrads Society Discuss Winter's Programme.

The first business meeting of the Science Undergraduate Society was held in the Chemistry and Mining Building at 5 p.m. yesterday afternoon. Compared with the registration in Science this year the attendance was small, about fifty being present, the lack of members of the freshmen class being particularly noticeable.

The President, Lawrence Mahaffy, took the chair, and after a few matters arising out of the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in the spring, proceeded to announce the new business.

Mr. Mahaffy announced that the Engineering Institute of Canada, whose headquarters are on Mansfield street, were having papers read by its members every Thursday night at 8.15 p.m., during the winter. A special invitation has been extended to the McGill Science students to attend these meetings, and Mr. Mahaffy has been asked by the President of the Engineering Institute to act on the Reception Committee.

With respect to the Science Undergraduate Society's meetings during the winter, he announced that a programme would be prepared by the Executive, but if any ten men desired to have any special lectures or papers by engineers known to themselves, the Committee would do their best to arrange for these lectures. Applications to this effect should be put in writing to the Executive Committee.

It is hoped in the near future to have a lecture in the Mount Royal Tunnel, by Mr. Burfield, who was one of the assistant engineers during its construction.

A smoker and Science dinner were also mentioned, but discussion as to when they should be held was left over to another meeting.

Messrs. Bob Eadie and E. Penney were nominated for the Union House Committee. The meeting then adjourned.

SOCIAL EVENT.
IS ARRANGED
FRIDAY NIGHT
One Of the Main Events Of Season
GIVEN BY MCGILL "Y."

Good Programme Prepared and a Large Attendance
Is Expected.
One of the main events of the season will be staged on Friday evening next in the shape of the annual conversation. This is given under the auspices of the McGill Y.M.C.A. for the sole purpose of bringing together the male students of the university and the fairer element of the R.V.C. Such a praiseworthy object, deserves the full support of all the student body. This support has never been lacking in the past, the Freshmen especially being ardent supporters of the scheme, and there is no reason to suppose that the men will be any more bashful than usual this year. There has however always been an air of mystery hanging over this particular rite, the first year men often trembled at the thought of getting there and of not knowing what to do or what to talk about. This is the procedure.
Having arrived and having arranged himself as fit for maidens' eyes, each man is given a card on which there is a number and on which he writes his name, the number indicates at what point in the evening he takes his companion up to supper, his name, serves to introduce him to all and everyone in the room. The actual time for conversation is divided into ten periods, these are reserved in the same manner as dances are at a ball. There is one point of difference however between these periods and dances, that is there is no encore allowed. This is a severe but necessary judgement.
Supper is served at different periods through the evening, the arrangements for which will be explained at the time. The gentlemen also see their supper companions home at the end of the function.
One thing is important, everyone must try to arrive on time in order that there will be nobody waiting. The time set is 7.30. Everyone up, and everyone up on time.

THE REAL NEED
The correspondence columns of the "Daily" have recently given prominence to various letters, the general purport of which has been to emphasize the desirability of reviving some of the old activities and institutions which, owing to the war, have been suspended. In short, to put it colloquially, this recent correspondence is a more or less concerted demand for an actual demonstration of "pep."
The prospects are exceptionally bright, for practically every branch of athletic or social activity. The opportunity for re-organization and organization has never been greater; and yet, apparently, something is lacking.
The crying need of the hour is for initiative and a liberal amount of that indispensable enthusiasm which is most expressively designated "pep."
Are we really awake? If so, the fact can alone be substantially attested by some tangible expression. The session is now well under way. It is time that the various institutions and organizations were facing a definite year's work, if not already deep in its accomplishment. We want most of all men of enthusiasm—of "pep," and men of initiative.

REV. MITCHELL GIVES ADVICE TO THEOLOGS
But who knows a man who is not ready to pass judgment on a sermon? "Some men who do not know enough to sit down when tired are ready to judge the preacher."
The speaker's text might have been "Take Heed To Thyself." What you do means more than what you say. There must be a preacher behind the preaching. The first consideration of a student of theology should not be his future, reputation or knowledge, but his own self. Health is essential. "And if you are sick keep quiet about it. God pity the man who is always talking about his 'inards.'" Sympathy from the sob sisters is not an asset.
The next qualification must be a "good store of grey matter." If a sermon is delivered by one "who is weak in the upper story, every high school boy sees his falling, every school girl laughs at him."
Human—good cheer—follow in order. A long face is no longer taken as a badge of piety. People will only wonder what is wrong with your stomach. The minister should be the jolliest man in town, so that his religion will be recommended by his own happiness. "A genius may be a boor and get away with it. You cannot."
"A love for folks must have a large place in a preacher's eye," continued the Bishop, "brilliant speakers have often been miserable failures because they were not 'good mixers.' A 'poor mixer' is only too selfish and self-centered to cultivate friendship."
He then referred, in emphasizing the importance of tact and common sense, to advice given to a student entering a certain training college, "If you lack knowledge, we'll give it you. If you want grace, it will come from above. But if you are short on common sense, the Lord have mercy on your soul!"
In closing, he noted the necessity of spirituality. A preacher who never saves a soul is in the class of a poet who never writes a poem. Only a spiritually-minded man can interpret saving grace to his fellow men. "Make yourself a better man, and let the rest take care of itself."
A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Morrison, and seconded by Mr. Bunt, was heartily supported by the student body. Dr. Ritchie, of the Congregational College, concluded by expressing the appreciation of the Faculty to Bishop Mitchell.

board, and the Florentine nobility did not fail to enjoy these, in a very realistic manner. The costuming was, also extremely well carried out, and the scene altogether had a truly Italian atmosphere.
The third year presented a scene from "Daniel Deronda." The features of this act were the beautiful gowns worn by the ladies, the "ensembles" and the picturesque old-fashioned dance. The gentlemen also looked most manly, and played their parts well. The following is the cast:
Daniel Deronda—Ethelwyn Holland
Gwendolyn—Kathleen Godwin.
Grandcourt—Eleanor Cox.
Lady Pentreath—Dorothy Mathewson.
Lady Maltinger—R. Joy Husk.
Sir Hugo—K. M. Gillespie.
Guests—Beatrice Larkin and Jessie Thornton.
Stage Manager—Edith Barnes.
The second year, perhaps, scored the success of the afternoon, in their splendid representation of "The Mill on the Floss." The part selected was most humorous, and all the act with the handsome "Tom," and Mrs. Fullimer left nothing to be desired in its did full justice to their roles. The ladies present all fell in love her acting. The following is the cast:

Mr. Fullimer—Mary Fry.
Mrs. Fullimer—Ruth Shatford.
Maggie—Lisa Levy.
Tom—Jean Henderson.
Lucie—D. Howell.
Maid—Louise Riley.
Mrs. Pullett—L. Weibel.
Mrs. Glegg—M. Tait.
Stage Manager—E. McPartlin.
The tavern scene from "Silas Marner" was very well carried out by the Freshman. The audience was especially delighted at the life-like impersonation of Mr. Macey, given by Winnifred Kydd, while all those gathered at the inn were splendidly portrayed. Those who took part were as follows:
Mr. Macey—Winnifred Kydd.
Ben Winthrop—Madge McConnel.
Mr. Snell—Audrey Lamb.
The Butcher—Joan Foster.
Silas Marner—Dorothy Teed.
The Farmer—Angela McGee.
Jim Rodney—Jean Branley.
Mr. Tuckey—Florence Matta.
Stage Manager—Miss Friedman.

DEMAND FOR GRADUATES IN PHYSICAL ED.
Tenth Opening Of Social
Yesterday.
PROF. DALE SPOKE.
Success Of Past Students
Testifies To Importance
Of Work.

The opening of the tenth session of McGill School of Physical Education was held Wednesday afternoon at R. V. C., with Prof. Dale in the chair. Among those on the platform were: Dr. Simpson, Dr. Downes, Dr. Jones, Mr. Powter, Dr. Tees, Dr. Brown, Dr. Robertson, Miss Cartwright, Miss Henry, Miss Oughtred, Miss Fisher, Miss Haye and Miss Christy.
The McGill School of Physical Education was organized in 1912, to fill the demand for trained gymnasium teachers, and year by year the graduates of this school have taken positions not only in Montreal and throughout Canada, but even so far afield as Calcutta, India. The students in massage and remedial treatments have worked in military hospitals abroad and many are now at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.
Prof. Dale, in opening, expressed his regret that Miss Huiblat, who had been present at every opening since the inauguration of the school, was not able to be with them on this occasion. Miss Huiblat, he said, had always realized the need for physical training, and had encouraged high ideals in the work. Prof. Dale said that the school was entering upon a new era. McGill had incorporated school in department of physical education, and had sanctioned the appointment of a full time assistant to help the director, Miss Cartwright. The school, for the first time in its history is offering a complete two-year course, this session. Hitherto the course has consisted of one year only. This innovation has placed the school on an equal footing with training colleges elsewhere.
The fact that the McGill school is becoming well-known is demonstrated by the large registration of students from all over Canada, and also by the great number of requests for graduates. This summer the applications were so numerous that they could not be complied with.
Prof. Dale expressed the hope that both men and women may be enrolled in the McGill School of Physical Education, which is to be erected on the Macdonald Campus. The present McGill school is the only one of its kind in Canada, and it should be a source of satisfaction to Canadians that we now have a physical training school of our own, and do not have to send Canadians to U.S. establishments.

Dr. Harvey spoke of the theoretical and remedial work. The two years' course, he said, included massage and remedial work. Most of the work done at R.V.C. and the practical work, is done in the M.A.A.A. gymnasium, thanks to the kindness of the M.A.A. A. board.
Miss Cartwright then discussed the technical side of the matter. Stating definitely what work could be included in the 2nd year, and reading out the time tables. The physical director said she hoped that in the future graduates of the school would be qualified to undertake remedial work for school children suffering from deformities which should be attended to in the early stages of development.
Dr. Lamb, the new director of physical education for men, is on the executive of the school, and is also on the staff, while many prominent members of the medical and scientific departments of McGill are undertaking several courses.

THE REAL NEED

The correspondence columns of the "Daily" have recently given prominence to various letters, the general purport of which has been to emphasize the desirability of reviving some of the old activities and institutions which, owing to the war, have been suspended. In short, to put it colloquially, this recent correspondence is a more or less concerted demand for an actual demonstration of "pep."

The prospects are exceptionally bright, for practically every branch of athletic or social activity. The opportunity for re-organization and organization has never been greater; and yet, apparently, something is lacking.

The crying need of the hour is for initiative and a liberal amount of that indispensable enthusiasm which is most expressively designated "pep."

Are we really awake? If so, the fact can alone be substantiated by some tangible expression. The session is now well under way. It is time that the various institutions and organizations were facing a definite year's work, if not already deep in its accomplishment. We want most of all men of enthusiasm—of "pep," and men of initiative.

A FULL EDUCATION

The average student of the University is in the formative period of his life, and his mode of action while here will determine to a great extent his future character. For that reason, it is well to guard not only against those things which are deterrent to building a clean character, but also to guide his best impulses in such a channel that they will become a permanent part of his life.

Two general types of life are reflected by the student body and each man must choose for himself what his associations are to be. If he chooses wisely, he will select the better type, and leave the University a better man than he came, not only mentally but morally. Education at its best means a better code of ethics.

board, and the Florentine nobility did not fail to enjoy these, in a very realistic manner. The costumes were also extremely well carried out, and the scene altogether had a truly Italian atmosphere.

The third year presented a scene from "Daniel Deronda." The features of this act were the beautiful gowns worn by the ladies, the "ensembles" and the picturesque old-fashioned dance. The gentlemen also looked most manly, and played their parts well. The following is the cast:

Daniel Deronda—Ethelewyn Holland
Gwendolyn—Kathleen Godwin.
Grandcourt—Eleanor Cox.
Lady Pentreath—Dorothy Mathewson.

Lady Maltinger—R. Joy Husk.
Sir Hugo—K. M. Gillespie.
Guests—Beatrice Larkin and Jessie Thornton.

Stage Manager—Edith Barnes.

The second year, perhaps, scored the success of the afternoon, in their splendid representation of "The Mill on the Floss." The part selected was most humorous, and all the actors with the handsome "Tom," and Mrs. Fullimer left nothing to be desired in their did full justice to their roles. The ladies presented all fell in love her acting. The following is the cast:

Mr. Fullimer—Mary Fry.
Mrs. Fullimer—Ruth Shafford.
Maggie—Lisa Levy.
Tom—Jean Henderson.
Lucie—D. Howell.
Maid—Louie Riley.
Mrs. Pullett—L. Weibel.
Mrs. Glegg—M. Tait.
Stage Manager—E. McPartlin.

The tavern scene from "Silas Marner" was very well carried out by the Freshman. The audience was especially delighted at the life-like impersonation of Mr. Macey, given by Winnifred Kydd, while all those gathered at the inn were splendidly portrayed. Those who took part were as follows:

Mr. Macey—Winnifred Kydd.
Ben Winthrop—Madge McConnell.
Mr. Snell—Audrey Lamb.
The Butcher—Joan Foster.
Silas Marner—Dorothy Teed.
The Farmer—Angela McGee.
Jim Rodney—Jean Branley.
Mr. Tuckey—Florence Matts.
Stage Manager—Miss Friedman.

SOCIAL EVENT IS ARRANGED FRIDAY NIGHT

One Of the Main Events Of Season

GIVEN BY MCGILL "Y."

Good Programme Prepared and a Large Attendance Is Expected.

One of the main events of the season will be staged on Friday evening next in the shape of the annual conversation. This is given under the auspices of the McGill Y.M.C.A. for the sole purpose of bringing together the male students of the university and the fairer element of the R.V.C. Such a praiseworthy object, deserves the full support of all the student body. This support has never been lacking in the past, the Freshmen especially being ardent supporters of the scheme, and their is no reason to suppose that the men will be any more bashful than usual this year. There has however always been an air of mystery hanging over this particular rite, the first year men often trembled at the thought of getting there and of not knowing what to do or what to talk about. This is the procedure.

Having arrived and having arranged himself as fit for maidens' eyes, each man is given a card on which there is a number and on which he writes his name, the number indicates at what point in the evening he takes his companion up to supper, his name, serves to introduce him to all and everyone in the room. The actual time for conversation is divided into ten periods, these are reserved in the same manner as dances are at a ball. There is one point of difference however between these periods and dances, that is there is no encore allowed. This is a severe but necessary judgement.

Supper is served at different periods through the evening, the arrangements for which will be explained at the time. The gentlemen also see their supper companions home at the end of the function.

One thing is important, everyone must try to arrive on time in order that there will be nobody waiting. The time set is 7.30. Everyone up, and everyone up on time.

But who knows a man who is not ready to pass judgment on a sermon? "Some men who do not know enough to sit down when tired are ready to judge the preacher."

The speaker's text might have been "Take Heed To Thyself." What you do means more than what you say. There must be a preacher behind the preaching. The first consideration of a student of theology should not be his future reputation or knowledge, but his own self. Health is essential. "And if you are sick keep quiet about it. God pity the man who is always talking about his 'inards.'" Sympathy from the sisters is not an asset.

The next qualification must be a "good store of grey matter." If a sermon is delivered by one "who is weak in the upper story, every high school boy sees his falling, every school girl laughs at him."

Human—good cheer—follow in order. A long face is no longer taken as a badge of piety. People will only wonder what is wrong with your stomach. The minister should be the jolliest man in town, so that his religio will be recommended by his own happiness. "A genius may be a boor and get away with it. You cannot."

"A love for folks must have a large place in a preacher's eye," continued the Bishop, "brilliant speakers have often been miserable failures because they were not 'good mixers.' A 'poor mixer' is only too selfish and self-centered to cultivate friendship." He then referred, in emphasizing the importance of tact and common sense, to advice given to a student entering a certain training college. "If you lack knowledge, we'll give it you. If you want grace, it will come from above. But if you are short on common sense, the Lord have mercy on your soul!"

In closing, he noted the necessity of spirituality. A preacher who never saves a soul is in the class of a poet who never writes a poem. Only a spiritually-minded man can interpret saving grace to his fellow man. "Make yourself a better man, and let the rest take care of itself." A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Morrison, and seconded by Mr. Bunt, was heartily supported by the student body. Dr. Ritchie, of the Congregational College, concluded by expressing the appreciation of the Faculty to Bishop Mitchell.

DEMAND FOR GRADUATES IN PHYSICAL ED.

Tenth Opening Of Social Yesterday.

PROF. DALE SPOKE.

Success Of Past Students Testifies To Importance Of Work.

The opening of the tenth session of McGill School of Physical Education was held Wednesday afternoon at R. V. C., with Prof. Dale in the chair. Among those on the platform were: Dr. Simpson, Dr. Downes, Dr. Jones, Mr. Powter, Dr. Tees, Dr. Brown, Dr. Robertson, Miss Cartwright, Miss Henry, Miss Oughtred, Miss Fisher, Miss Haye and Miss Christy.

The McGill School of Physical Education was organized in 1912, to fill the demand for trained gymnasium teachers, and year by year the graduates of this school have taken positions not only in Montreal and throughout Canada, but even so far afield as Calcutta, India. The students in massage and remedial treatments have worked in military hospitals abroad and many are now at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Prof. Dale, in opening, expressed his regret that Miss Huiblat, who had been present at every opening since the inauguration of the school, was not able to be with them on this occasion. Miss Huiblat, he said, had always realized the need for physical training, and had encouraged high ideals in the work. Prof. Dale said that the school was entering upon a new era. McGill had incorporated school in department of physical education, and had sanctioned the appointment of a full time assistant to help the director, Miss Cartwright. The school, for the first time in its history is offering a complete two-year course, this session. Hitherto the course has consisted of one year only. This innovation has placed the school on an equal footing with training colleges elsewhere.

The fact that the McGill school is becoming well-known is demonstrated by the large registration of students from all over Canada, and also by the great number of requests for graduates. This summer the applications were so numerous that they could not be complied with.

Prof. Dale expressed the hope that both men and women may be enrolled in the McGill School of Physical Education, which is to be erected on the Macdonald Campus. The present McGill school is the only one of its kind in Canada, and it should be a source of satisfaction to Canadians that we now have a physical training school of our own, and do not have to send Canadians to U.S. establishments.

Dr. Harvey spoke of the theoretical and remedial work. The two years' course, he said, included massage and remedial work. Most of the work done at R.V.C. and the practical work, is done in the M.A.A.A. gymnasium, thanks to the kindness of the M.A.A.A. A. oarld.

Miss Cartwright then discussed the technical side of the matter. Stating definitely what work could be included in the 2nd year, and reading out the time tables. The physical director said she hoped that in the future graduates of the school would be qualified to undertake remedial work for school children suffering from deformities which should be attended to in the early stages of development.

Dr. Lamb, the new director of physical education from men, is on the executive of the school, and is also on the staff, while many prominent members of the medical and scientific departments of McGill are undertaking several courses.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE

The executive of the Societe Francaise at a meeting held yesterday elected Miss Constance Harvey as Third Year representative, and also discussed plans for the coming session. It was decided to hold a meeting on Wednesday, October 22nd, to welcome the Freshmen to the Societe. They will be entertained with French games, music, dancing, and—tea. All Freshmen are cordially invited, whether they speak French well or not, for the aim of the Societe is to help them to speak better.

On his first appearance this year before the combined classes of second and third years Law, the Hon. Justice R. A. E. Greenshields was yesterday tendered a warm reception. Maurice Versailles, president of the Law Undergraduates Society, congratulated the Hon. Mr. Justice Greenshields on his recent promotion to the Court of Kings Bench. He expressed, in a few well chosen words, the pleasure of the student body that one of the most loved and respected members of the staff had been accorded such well-deserved honour.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Greenshields is professor of Criminal Law at McGill in which capacity he has served for many years.

ASTROLOGY

By D. H.

It has become a commonplace to say that this is a material age which wishes to see the practical value of all it undertakes, the pursuit of knowledge for its own sake is now confined to the few and Astrology would stand a poor chance of commanding interest at the present day merely as a theoretical study. The attention of a few earnest students, however, during the last decade or two, has so far rediscovered the secret of the Science that it is probably on the verge of a new era in which its usefulness will become increasingly plain.

First and foremost will be its importance in the diagnosis of disease. Given, for example, 20 horoscopes of people who suffered from appendicitis and another case where a doctor was doubtful whether he had diagnosed correctly, by comparison with the other cases the doctor-astrologer could confirm or refute his diagnosis. No single astrologer has had the opportunity of investigating and classifying astrologically more than a few types of disease, and it will not be till each medical specialist studies astrology along with his medical work that anything like a complete medico-astrological dictionary could be compiled. Among the Arabians in the Middle Ages there was no doctor who was not an astrologer; and at the present day doctors will probably agree that the most difficult part of their work is, not the treatment, but the diagnosis of disease, and would welcome a science which would reduce the margin of error in this respect.

The second sphere in which Astrology will be of great value is with regard to Education. At a child's birth its characteristics can be estimated and the lines along which it could be trained with the best results can thereby be ascertained. This is the branch to which astrologers have devoted most attention in recent years, partly because it does not require the highly specialized knowledge of medicine, partly because there is no more fascinating study than the study of human character.

The application of the same methods to the choice of employees for a particular type of business will readily occur to anyone, and much will be done towards preventing the square peg from getting into the round hole. The old maxim "Know thyself" has more chance of being put into practice.

Again in the study of history, astrology gives a basis of classification. It was Augustus Comte who thought that astrology had not been given a fair trial as a foundation for Philosophy of history. The student of Religion and Mythology, too, is reading with his eyes half shut if he does not understand this science. Again and again a phrase or a word receives its whole explanation in the stars. The very Bible is honey-combed with Astrological references. The twelve tribes of Israel, for example, correspond to the twelve signs of the Zodiac, and in the simple phrase "The Lion of the tribe of Judah" is summed up the whole character of Judah, corresponding to the sign Leo. Jeremiah, whose "Old Testament in the Light of the Ancient East" is highly valued by biblical critics writes "an oriental history without consideration of the world era is unthinkable. The stars rule the changes of the times" to which Rogers adds the comment that "Astrology is the last word of science in an antiquity" it may not be very long before it becomes the handmaid of the science of to-day.

EXCITING GAMES IN R.V.C. TENNIS

Interclass Matches Drew Many Spectators—Honors Keenly Contested.

The interclass games were played of this morning when the first and second years provided some interesting tennis for a large number of spectators. The third and fourth year matches were very close; these teams were more evenly matched and the results were practically undecided until the concluding game. The final match between the winners of these drew many spectators who were well repaid for turning out. The second and third years fought for the honors in keenly contested games, the side lines favoring one side, then the other, as the ultimate winners. But in the end, the steadier pair won out and third year, represented by D. Dart and D. Campbell won the point for the banner. L. Ayler and Levy for the second year played a very plucky losing game. The final score was as follows:—L. Ayler and L. Levy '22 beat M. Leggett and A. Roy '22 (5-7)
D. Dart and D. Campbell '21 beat C. Burke and H. Davidson '20 (5-7)
D. Dart and D. Campbell '21 beat L. Ayler and L. Levy '22 (5-7)

UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL IN U.S.

Pennsylvania scored its second victory of the season Saturday, when the football squad defeated P.M.C. 54-9. The cadet eleven was completely outclassed by the heavier and more experienced Red and Blue line, against which it was unable to hold. The Varsity stopped all attacks of the cadets and plunged through the latter's line almost at will.

The first touchdown was scored in less than two minutes, when Straus, after a series of end runs and smashes through the line, carried the ball across the P. M. C. goal. Before the end of the first quarter, Kerr, who was in to replace Straus, crossed the line, making the score 14-0. In the next quarter, with the Varsity kicking off to the visiting eleven, the latter were unable to make their downs and punts. Light and Brunner ran the ball to the one-yard line, after which Light scored the third touchdown. With only a few minutes to play before the end of the first half, Derr again scored against P. M. C. by an end run. Pennsylvania kicked off, but P. M. C. fumbled and Ray Miller recovered the ball and made the fifth tally just as the half ended.

In the second half the P. M. C. line buckled up and forced Brunner to punt. Then, by a forward pass, they made their first down of the game. The Varsity line held them for downs, after which the backfield ran the ball down the field, Derr making the touchdown. Coach Folwell began to send in the substitutes, who added two more touchdowns to the final score, R. Wray carrying the ball both times, made some of the most sensational runs of the game. Henry Miller starred in making goals after touchdowns, making six goals out of the six times attempted. Captain Bell tried two goals from field in the first half, but neither one went between the bars.

Nearly the entire squad had a chance to play in Saturday's game, and several former players made their first appearance since their service in the army. Pearce, replacing McNichol, made long runs. Maynard, who was one of the best linemen on the squad a few years ago, was given a chance in Tittel's place, while Neylon went in for Thomas. The P. M. C. eleven was outclassed by Pennsylvania, whose line averaged eight pounds heavier than theirs. The cadets played a plucky game, but could not make any gains through the Red and Blue line. The tackling, too, was faulty, and allowed the Pennsylvania backfield to make long gains. Campanzano, who was expected to star for the visitors, made but a few plunges through the Varsity line, although on the defense he played a spectacular game.

R.V.C. SPORTS.

Thanksgiving Day ushered in a week of hard work for girls taking part in the sports. Since then practices have been held at various hours every day. Many thanks are due to the sports' leaders of each event who have turned up for all the practices, and have thus inspired other girls to follow them.

Every girl who is entering any event must turn out to the practice of semi-finals on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The leaders will take charge of their entries on Saturday, and the Sports' Representative from each year will take charge of her class teams and colors.

The tickets for the sports, tea and dancing, will be 75c, not 25c, as was reported in the Daily before.

Come out and show your college spirit.

THREE TEAMS WENT STRONG AT WORKOUTS

two sister-teams have proved themselves. Eric Parsons, at quarter, is a peppy manager. He worked hard, handled the ball well, and wasn't afraid to hit the line hard when he had the ball. Timmins, brother to Noah Timmins, tackled hard and displayed ability to get through. Trull Lyall was out in the half-line and did considerable conspicuous punting for the second team. Doug Lyall was in the senior spurs and when he had the chance, did some good work. Cyril Flanagan, in charge of the seconds, pointed out their many defects and did his best to inject more "pep" into a few of its members. Capt. Matheson at the tackling duties. The Junior squad worked hard under my first, then later on the field, and show improvement on last Saturday's performance in many departments of the game. Quinlan was not out at quarter yesterday and was replaced by Hied, who worked hard, but was apparently not very familiar with the signals. Towards the latter part of the afternoon, Flanagan set the seconds against the Juniors, kicking off himself for a change. In this workout, the Juniors field well, but failed to make many gains of any length.

The track was popular as well, yesterday, and many of the entrants for Saturday's meet were hard at work. Kennedy had a try at the discus and got good distance. He and Gnaedinger had a tryout at the jumps and showed up well as did Hays and others on the track. A few long-distance men were out in training for the coming harrier-meet and these augur well for the college in that line of sport.

appearance since their service in the army. Pearce, replacing McNichol, made long runs. Maynard, who was one of the best linemen on the squad a few years ago, was given a chance in Tittel's place, while Neylon went in for Thomas. The P. M. C. eleven was outclassed by Pennsylvania, whose line averaged eight pounds heavier than theirs. The cadets played a plucky game, but could not make any gains through the Red and Blue line. The tackling, too, was faulty, and allowed the Pennsylvania backfield to make long gains. Campanzano, who was expected to star for the visitors, made but a few plunges through the Varsity line, although on the defense he played a spectacular game.

Orcad Training School football squad are now under the direction of Captain J. D. Brown of the military department and are fast developing into a football machine. They have been scrimmaging with Lawrence High School's crack eleven, and although outclassed they are showing what good coaching can do.

"Dog" Reynolds, eVrne Walthers and Levi Crites are playing in the backfield while George Richardson seems to star in the line. According to the present outlook, this year will find Pennsylvania represented by one of the strongest lacrosse teams in intercollegiate ranks. The Athletic Council has secured the services of Harry R. Paige, of Canada, to assist Coach Goldsmith in drilling the team. Mr. Paige was a former player on the All-Canadian team which represented that country at the Olympia games in 1914.

Already seven men from last year's team, including Captain Frey, have reported to Coach Goldsmith, but it will be necessary for the coach to select new material for the defence, as most of the members of last year's defence have not returned to the University. Arrangements are now being made to start fall practice early next week, at which time all candidates will report to Coach Goldsmith at Franklin Field.

Correspondence

The Union, 11-10-19.

The Editor,

McGill Daily.

Sir,

Would you grant me space to draw attention to a very lamentable state of affairs which exists amongst a class of men at McGill.

Yesterday I was sitting in the Union and two very young men walked in and the following conversation began: first young man—"Say are you going to lectures to-day?" Second young man—"I guess so, there ain't any on Friday you know." First Y. M. "None on Friday! Why not?" Second Y. M. "O its Sports Day." First Y. M. "O I guess if its Sports Day I'll go out of town for the day."

That dialogue was typical of this class, not only are they not interested in Sports' Day but I venture to think that they are not interested in any athletic or other college institution except probably the return of their caution money.

Their sole aim at college is the absorption like sponges of a great deal of knowledge.

One naturally asks oneself "Now can this state of affairs be cured?"

The question is a vital one because the leaders in this and most countries are bound to be the men and women with education. An education which is not merely an absorption of facts but something far broader, a knowledge of mankind first, and of phenomena second.

Now nowhere can a man gain a greater knowledge of mankind while at college than in rubbing against men in sports, societies and in that much neglected institution to which many of us owe so much, the McGill C.O.T.C.

Bacon remarks in one of his essays that as an essential to a strong nation, she should have a race of military men. That saying is true to-day than in the days of Elizabeth.

I remain,

Yours truly,

G. V. D.

Dear Mr. Editor,

In your issue of October 14th there appears a letter from X on the subject of Christianity. I do not question the writer's sincerity in stating what he has stated; but I wonder do your readers accept his statements as covering the whole matter. To me they are pathetically partial in so far as they lay claim to a complete summing up of what Christianity is.

Without committing myself to any definition let me draw attention to some statements made by X. Referring to Christ, your correspondent says, "He came into this world to save men from Hell." An insufficient Theology may say so but we shall find little in the New Testament as a whole to support such a theory. In John X. (10) we read: "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." The aim of Jesus was not primarily to pluck men as brands from the burning. He sought to teach men how to live knowing full well that death would look after itself. Christianity, then, is a life, a way of living, and the dynamic by which men are able to live according to his way is found by being "in Him".

Now if this be true, then the function of an organization such as the Y.M.C.A. is just to teach people, in the same practical way as Jesus did, how to live that life. And as life is many-sided, so, too, must the application of Christian principles be in many and various ways. This is just what Mr. McKay and his associates are doing.

Again X. says, "All a man must do to escape eternal punishment is to believe with his heart that Christ died for his sins". Frankly, that it too tasy a way of getting to Heaven; or, a Heaven that is so cheap would not be worth reaching. Does X. remember words such as these: "If any man will come after me let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." Matt. XVI. (24)? That sounds a much more attractive and compelling note. It appeals to the very depths of man. But it may be that X. includes all that under "belief". Does he?

But I shall not proceed further with this discussion. I can easily see on the surface that X. has neither had no training in Theology or he is yet quite young. Perhaps both suppositions are true. As the years pass and he completes his university training I feel certain he will be very different in his outlook on these things. He will feel that in a real sense, salvation is a process and that the great thing in life is not so much to worry, about saving himself but to help in rescuing others. "For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it."

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valued space.

Yours sincerely,

Theologia.

The Editor of the Daily:

The students of old McGill now beginning to settle down to the routine of work and soon they will get into the regular rut of thinking that they must do nothing but work, with the result that those clubs which should be most popular have not the membership which they should.

No action has yet been taken to enlist students in the Literary and Debating Society, the B. W. and P., the Gymnastic club and the Rifle club and the others.

These clubs are all important but if they are going to the success which the attendance at McGill warrants they should be got into action at once, the sooner the better. Very soon students will be getting to think that they are to busy to attend club meetings and that they will have no time to give to practices and competitions, the results will be that they will not join; whereas if the clubs get started at once and the men get interested they will find that it is worth their while to make a little time to go to club meetings.

There are many men in the University who could make one call of the clubs a huge success, so why not give them a chance to do something by these clubs which are mentioned and all others organized and acting at once.

Sincerely Yours,

Would-Be-Member.

Editor of Daily:—

Dear Sir:

In your last issue appeared a letter in support of fancy dress carnival, which I am sure, was welcomed by many of the undergraduates as a step in the right direction. One of the great faults in many social programmes is that of deciding upon a long list of events which are of a more or less similar nature. In order to retain the interest of students for the entire season, a carefully selected variety of "fixtures" is necessary.

The place which a carnival holds, as a part of such should, and is, a prominent one. The monotony of one stereotyped "hop" after another is relieved by a real hilarious, gay, and snappy evening spent by college friends in a carefree manner.

As Messrs O'Brien and Mills suggest, this year's programme is not complete unless such an event is included, and we only hope that it may materialize. Thanking for your valuable space.

I am, Yours,

Karney Valle.

of the returned men in the building. The dinner, in keeping with the nature of the occasion, is to be strictly "Stag". This is to be held throughout the year. The reading room also is to be put into shape. The Governors of the College are fitting up a music and recreation room in the basement for the use of all the residents.

Altogether things may be said to be on the move at the Wesleyan. There is material among the men for two or three splendid basketball teams; other teams will probably be organized during the season. Any social talent in the building is still latent, but will probably be discovered before long. There is no reason why this year should not be a great year in the history of the Wesleyan. The returned men are taking hold very enthusiastically, the old policy of "theological isolation" is being done away with, the men in the building are taking a lively interest in the Society, the Board of Governors is very kindly encouraging the efforts of the men, and the faculty is sympathetic.

FACULTY FOOTBALL TEAMS PRACTISED

Arts, Law and Science Team Worked Out Yesterday.

A successful practice of the Science Faculty football team was held yesterday afternoon and the attendance being considerably larger than the day before.

This afternoon there will be a signal practice at 5 p.m. on the small campus. This is the last practice before the match with Arts and Law and all who intend to try for the team are requested to turn out.

Players should make their own arrangements for getting uniforms for Friday's game.

ARTS AND LAW.

Footballers of Arts and Law had their first workout yesterday at noon and a second yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. The practice took the form of signal practices, several men playing quarter. To all appearances, these two faculties will be able to put a first class team on the field. In Arts especially their is much promising material, a number of men who turned out being on the second and third teams. In Law too there is said to be some yet uncovered football veterans.

At the first practice yesterday, "Gay" Chiscolm was unanimously elected captain. He is a man of much experience, who the Arts men are assured will lead them on to victory. The coach expects the support of all the men in both faculties, in order that the team will make a good showing at their first game on Friday morning next. There are still some men of known football ability who were not out at yesterday's practice, these should not wait to be appealed to again, to get faculty football off again with a start those at the head need every support from all those who play at all.

GREAT EFFORT OF BRITISH IN 1918

War Cabinet Issues a Report—Also Deals With the Navy.

The report of the British War Cabinet for 1918 which was presented to Parliament on the day of its adjournment contains a striking record of what happened in the last year of hostilities. It deals with the magnitude and intensity of the operations, the swift reversal of the fortunes of war and the political upheavals, following the military disaster among the Central Powers, which marked the year of climax. The downfall of the military power of the Central Empires stands out as the main theme of 1918. The latest effort of the Germans is described as an attempt "to break through the united lines of the Allies, to cut their force in two and to defeat each half in turn, driving the English to the Channel ports and beyond, annihilating the remainder of the gallant Belgian Army, capturing the French capital, and crushing the great army and Nation of France. It was a stroke to be dealt with straight at the heart."

The document shows how on July 18 last year the tide turned and how in four months, "in a succession of fierce and amazing attacks the enemy was driven as swiftly back, the elaborate and almost impregnable lines of his defense were breached and his armies were compelled to sue for peace, while internal political upheavals rapidly overthrew the Bulgarians, the German, and the Austrian monarchies. History has no parallel to so great, so sudden and so complete a reversal." It is claimed that intervention in Russia and the tightening of the blockade helped materially to reduce the resistance of the Central Powers and to shorten the war. Reference is made to the value of unity of control in order to achieve the common end. "In this sense," the report declares, "the most striking and representative act of the year was the establishment of the unity of military command under Marshal Foch. The trust placed in him more than justified expectation. The masterly strategic plans which he framed were brilliantly executed, and the world owes to him an eternal debt of gratitude."

The intensification of the British national effort during the year is shown by the fact that "when at the end of four months' desperate fighting, and very heavy casualties, the great German offensive was brought to a standstill, the British forces in France were slightly stronger in men than before the German attack in March."

The mighty part played by the British Empire between Aug. 4, 1914, and Nov. 11, 1918, is made clear by figures which are set out as follows:

Strength of the regular army reserve, and territorial forces

Aug. 4, 1914 732,514

England recruited 4,006,158

With other white enlistments in the United Kingdom and the colonies, the total white enlistment in the Empire was . . . 7,130,250

The figures for races other than white (including over 1,250,000 from India) were . . . 1,534,157

Giving a grand total of all races of the Empire 8,664,407

ROOTERS' CLUB SONGS

Tune—TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP.

Now our team is on the field, every nerve and muscle steeled, And determined that they'll win or die to-day;

See these fellows, sure and strong, ready all the line along,

Ottawa will have to break and fade away.

Chorus

Cheer, then, cheer for Old McGill, boys,

Raise your voices in a song, We will beat them on the play,

For we're out to win to-day, And the team in Red and White'll move along.

2—Tune—DIXIE.

You want to be, you want to be

You want to be in Old McGill, boys,

Where the Red and White are in the fight,

Morning, afternoon and night.

You want to see, you want to see them,

You want to see our team rip thru' them,

You can tell the world the cup come to M-C-G well, we all know how to spell it,

For we're going, you bet, we're going,

Yes, we're going to win to-day.

3—Tune—PUT ON YOUR OLD GREY BONNET.

Put on your Red and White sweater

For you have none better, And we'll open up another keg of beer.

It is not for knowledge that we came to college,

But to raise H—all the year.

4—Tune—TAMMANY.

James McGill! James McGill! Peacefully he slumbers there,

Blissful though we're on a "tear."

James McGill! James McGill! He's our father, well yes, rather,

James McGill.

4b— Ottawa, Ottawa, Ottawa can go to H— U. of T. and Queens as well.

Old McGill, Old McGill, Race them, chase them, Race them, chase them, Old McGill.

4c— Ottawa! Ottawa! Dullest team we ever saw, 'Gainst a line without a flaw.

Ottawa, Ottawa, Good bye! fare well! ta! ta. So long Ottawa.

5—Tune—TAKE ME TO THE LAND OF JAZZ.

Take me to the land of Jazz, Let me hear the kind of blues that Memphis had. I want to step a tune that's full of ginger and pep, Pick 'em up and lay 'em down,

Learn to do the Raz-ma-taz, Let me give you a warning, We won't get home until morning, Cause everybody's full of Jazzbo In the loving land of Jazz.

6—MARY.

Mary, Mary, you're the girl for me,

Mary, Mary, Paradise I see, Every time I look into your roguish eyes,

Shure I can see you're planning On some new surprise.

You darlin', Mary, Mary, Sweetest name I know.

Mary, Mary, fair as flowers that grow,

Oh, you little Irish daisy, You're driving me crazy,

Pretty Mary, I love you so.

7—Tune—JA DA.

Ja da, Ja da, Ja da, Ja da, Jada, jada, jing, jing, jing.

That's a funny little bit of melody;

It's so soothing and appealing to me,

It goes Ja da, Ja da, Jada, jada, jing, jing, jing.

8—HAIL, ALMA MATER.

Hail! Alma Mater, we sing to thee praise,

Great our affection; tho' feeble our lays;

Nestling so peaceful and calm 'neath the hill;

Fondly we love thee, our dear old McGill.

9—COME FILL YOUR GLASSES UP.

Come fill your glasses up To McGill, McGill, McGill, Come drink a loving cup To McGill, McGill, McGill.

We will drink the wine to-night, Drink the wine that makes hearts light,

Come fill your glasses up To McGill, McGill, McGill.

Come sing a joyous song To McGill, McGill, McGill, Sing as we march along To McGill, McGill, McGill. We will rally on the field, We will make our rivals yield, Victory shall crown the shield To McGill, McGill, McGill.

10—Tune—COME ON PAPA.

Come on McGill! Get right into the game;

Don't stop to wait But play them up.

You start to raise with them What we call ze deuce

You back right through their line Like through a Charlotte Russe.

Come on McGill! Beneath the shining sun You make the play

That wins the day. We'll give you the yells like ROOTERS do

Each time you ask for one, we'll give you two.

We're out for gore We'll make them roar— Yes we will.

Show them how, Do it now COME ON MCGILL!

11—Tune—"I'M FOREVER BLOWING BUBBLES."

We're forever scoring touch-downs,

Touch-downs well across the line;

They come so fast From the first to last

That all our foes are quite downcast;

Points are quickly mounting Mounting all the time

We're forever scoring touch-downs,

Touch-downs well across the line.

12—Tune—"HOW YA GONNA KEEP 'EM DOWN ON THE FARM."

How ya gonna keep us from winning this game?

That's what we'd like to know.

How ya gonna keep us from going over

Over the line, most of the time?

How ya gonna keep us from scoring points?

That's the mystery. You thought that you could beat us from the start

But now you know that you're not quite so smart.

How ya gonna keep us from winning the game?

That's what we'd like to know.

TRACK CLUB HOLD MEET TO-MORROW

Good Weather Promises To Make It a Great Success.

An exceptionally good list of entries have been received for the University sports to be held to-morrow afternoon at the Stadium. Although the number of men participating is not as great as last Saturday, there will be a much better competition as all of the students who have entered are trained athletes and will give a good account of themselves.

All of the faculties are well represented with competitors from Arts, Science, Medicine, Law and Agriculture. The latter faculty is sending in some very good men and it will not be surprising if they win some of the events against the students from other faculties. They have been practising at MacDonald college and are in the best of shape.

The races over longer distances are more popular than the sprints and it is in these that the interest will center. In the half mile and mile events there will be a hard race between Hamilton and Antliff, whose respective abilities have been much discussed. The other entries in these distances are all of a very high calibre and the former winners are none too sure of leading the list.

The jumps have drawn more entries than any of the other entries and it is expected that many of the former records will be equalled if not broken. There will be at least twenty entries in both the high and broad jumping events and each of the men entered has already proven his ability.

In the weight throwing contests there are a number of men who are shaping up as champions and there first real test will be in tomorrow's meet. If the weight men do as well as expected it is not too much to hope that the Intercollegiate championship will come to McGill this year.

The list of officials for the meet is as follows:—

Referee:—Prof. E. Brown.
Track Judges:—Dr. Adams, Dean Moyse, Dean Birkett, eDan Lee, Dr. C. J. McMillan, Dr. Elder, Mr. Falk, Dr. Harvey, C. J. Kemp, W. Melson, L. Rubenstein, J. A. Welsh.

Field Judges:—C. N. Dawson, Prof. Ludlow, Dr. Sullivan, Dr. Reilly, Dr. R. E. Powell, W. D. Lawrence, D. Smolzer.

Starter:—W. E. Roughton.
Timekeepers:—Mr. Taylor, Mr. Powter, Mr. Furey, A. Walsh.

Scorers:—J. N. Petersen, E. Mills, H. Fisk.

Inspectors:—L. C. Montgomery, W. Parkins, J. Gihoolley.
Clerks of Course:—Dr. A. S. Lamb, W. C. Nicholson.

Announcer:—G. P. Smith.

MEDICAL EXAMS.

"Dad" Lamb wishes to emphasize through these columns the regulation that all men entering into competitive sports must first pass the University Medical Examination. It is to be especially noted that all men playing in Inter-Faculty Rugby come under this head and therefore must pass the exam. before their game. The following hours are those in which men must come up for exam. to-day in the "E" wing of the Arts Building.

Afternoon.—4.30 to 6.30.
Evening.—8.15 to 9.15.

Remember, if you play or intend to play Rugby, if you are entered for the track-meet, or the harrier-meet, if you are going to swim or play polo, and have not yet undergone this physical exam, it is imperative that you put in an appearance to-day at the above hours.

Their resistance would merely prolong a struggle which had become hopeless was largely due to the ever-increasing pressure of sea power. . . . When the armistice was concluded Germany as a sea power had to all intents and purposes ceased to exist." High commendation is also given in the document to the excellent work of the Air Force, which, it is urged, established itself as a dominant factor in modern warfare.
